Please join Jo Becker as she discusses The Fair Housing Council of Oregon. The FHCO is a nonprofit civil rights organization driven to eliminate illegal housing discrimination through enforcement and education across Oregon and Southwest Washington. The FHCO promotes equal access to housing by providing education, outreach, technical assistance, and enforcement opportunities specifically related to federal, state, and local fair housing laws. These laws protect against illegal housing discrimination based on “protected class status” including race, color, national origin, religion, sex, familial status, disability, marital status, (legal) sources of income, and sexual orientation.

SPEAKER: As a former Realtor(R), Jo Becker was involved with her local Realtor(R) association's Equal Opportunity/Cultural Diversity Committee for eight years, serving as a long-time member and former chair. She also served on the association's Board of Directors. It was at the Realtor(R) association that Jo first met the folks at the Fair Housing Council (FHCO) and learned about the important work they do. When she decided to make a career change, she stayed close to the housing industry but went non-profit. Jo is proud to have served the FHCO since 2005 and pleased to have the opportunity to further her interests in assuring fair and equitable housing for all. As a former licensee, she brings a unique perspective to the organization and truly appreciates the housing provider's prospective.
